

1. Having disagreements with your parents does not necessarily mean you must come into conflict with them. 与父母有分歧并不一定意味着你必须与他们发生冲突。

2. What made me annoyed was that the disturbing noise outside completely disturbed my mind. 让我恼火的是，外面令人不安的噪音完全扰乱了我的思想。

3. I have to make an apology to you for not being able to teach you to make Chinese knots this Saturday, so I owe you an apology. 我必须向你道歉，因为这个星期六不能教你做中国结，所以我欠你一个道歉。

4. Regardless of the risk of getting infected, Uncle Li is responsible and devoted to his job. As a consequence, he deserves our respect. 无论被感染的风险如何，李叔叔都很有责任心，尽职尽责。因此，他值得我们尊重。

5. To my amazement, the old man devoted all his money to supporting the local school. 令我惊讶的是，这位老人把他所有的钱都花在了支持当地学校上。

6. We should appeal to people to save things that nature offers to us. 我们应该呼吁人们拯救大自然提供给我们东西。

7. Hang on to your present job until you can get a better one. 在你没有找到更好的工作之前，不要放弃目前的工作。

8. When seen from afar, the mangrove forests appear more splendid. 从远处看，红树林显得更加壮丽。